Re: Misconduct Complaint Filed Against Judge Rolando Acosta

Dear Mr. Levine,

I am writing to ask for an appointment with you or a member of your staff about the above complaint. I've attached the email I sent on September 4, 2019.

My complaint against Jorge Dopico and Judge Acosta is rooted in my offer to give a lecture/lesson about God's existence to Columbia U., the manner in which this offer was declined, and the social value of my proposed speech.

The Stanford Encyclopedia of Philosophy has three entries on the arguments for God's existence (cosmological, ontological, teleological). From these entries all one can learn is the ignorant and stupid concept of God instead of the knowledgeable and intelligent concept of God. If I am mistaken about this, my proposed lecture/lesson has very little social value, and there has been no misconduct by Jorge Dopico, Judge Acosta, or all of the federal judges who have ruled against me.

I want to meet with you to explain the social value of my proposed lecture/lesson about God's existence.

Very truly yours,
David Roemer
